'SANDBAG' CHARGE HURLED AT SUPERVISORS

Water Companies Drop Opposition to Prado Dam Plan

SUPERVISORS VOTE THEIR REQUESTS

Representatives Inform Board of Action at Meeting Today
NOT TO FIGHT BONDS
Mitchell Is Back From East, But Delays Report on Work

Opposition of water companies in Orange county to the proposed flood control program, including construction of a dam at Prado, has been withdrawn, according to information given the board of supervisors today by M. N. Thompson, county flood control engineer.

He said that at a meeting in Los Angeles yesterday, William Wallop, of the Anaheim Union Water company, had assured him that if the supervisors adopted a resolution approving the four points of the recent report by Paul Bailey, his company would not oppose the project.

Mr. Thompson stated that while Mr. Wallop said his company would not guarantee any votes in favor of a bond issue in case it should become necessary, the group would not offer any opposition.

Another Pledge
The same promise was made by C. A. Palmer on behalf of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation district.

The Bailey report, submitted to the supervisors yesterday, was approved today in a resolution embodying the four points demanded by the water companies as the price for their agreement not to oppose the plan.

The Orange County Water district board was represented at today's meeting of the supervisors by C. A. Palmer, who is also a director in the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company, and Willis T. Warner of Huntington Beach.

Mr. Warner told the supervisors that the water district board had previously considered the Bailey report, but had agreed to keep it secret until after the report and been submitted to the supervisors.

Mr. Wallop, a director of the district, did not keep his word, said Mr. Warner, and send a copy of the report to Washington, D. C.

Confer With Wyman
The conference yesterday at which Mr. Wallop withdrew opposition to the flood control project was held in the office of Capt. Theodore Wyman of the army engineering corps, and was attended by Mr. Warner, Mr. Wallop, Mr. Thompson and Mr. Palmer.

At that conference Captain Wyman released a letter received by him from Frank Y. Laughlin, state SERRA administrator, endorsing the Orange county project wholeheartedly.

The letter from Mr. Laughlin was written in reply to one from Captain Wyman in which the answer to three questions was asked. The questions were:

Answers Three Questions
Is the project suitable for relief requirements?

Can relief workers be supplied without the necessity for providing housing?

Is the project suitable to provide unemployment relief for Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties?

Mr. Laughlin answered the first and last questions in the affirmative and answered "no" to the second.

STATE OPENS OIL PROBE

Investigation of Beach Drilling Started by State Senators

First steps toward investigation of production and royalties to the state from whipstock wells tapping the state pool at Huntington Beach were taken this afternoon by the state senate committee headed by Senator Culbert Olson, Los Angeles Epic.

Senator N. T. Edwards of Orange said today he had been notified by Senator Olson that the committee would meet in the Huntington Beach city hall at 2 p. m. today. Its function is to investigate production at Huntington Beach and ascertain royalties that have been paid to the state in accordance with the gentlemen's agreement with whipstock operators.

Whether the meeting today will drive ahead into the investigation or will be only a preliminary session to plan for future action was not explained in the notice received by Senator Edwards.

Senator Olson has announced that Governor Merriam has promised to increase the committee's appropriation from $2500 to $15,000, and that an additional $5000 will be available if necessary.

Senator Olson also has said that he favors a complete survey of the whipstock field before the committee takes any definite steps. It is understood that Alexander Anderson of Fullerton, pioneer oil well surveyor, has been considered for this work. The added funds would make such a survey possible.

The committee, in addition to Senator Olson and Senator Edwards, is composed of Senator Edgar W. Stow, Santa Barbara; Senator J. L. Wagy, Bakersfield; and Senator Ray W. Hays, Fresno.

War Strike Threatened

NEW MARINER STRIKE DUE, SAYS HEAD

Pacific Coast Harbor Officials Organize to Thwart Plan

'DARNED BIG FIGHT'

Bay City Labor Leader Declares Walkout to Be Nation-Wide

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28. (AP)—Threats of another maritime strike, which Harry Bridges, fiery longshoremen's leader, declared would be "a darned big fight," today found industrial and business leaders of at least four Pacific Coast ports organizing for action.

Bridges, who spurred labor in San Francisco bay cities into mass walkouts during last year's coast maritime conflict, declared Atlantic, Gulf of Mexico, and Great Lakes ports would be drawn into the new strike he said was looming.

Almost simultaneously with his announced prediction, Portland, Ore., and San Francisco business and industrial leaders moved to complete organizations they said were intended to guard against disruption of normal and orderly trade and commerce.

"Bridges can talk only for himself, or San Francisco," Norris said. He does not represent the Pacific Coast. We are not striking any trouble. He asserted that Bridges "only wants notoriety."

Lynn Fox, public relations representative of the San Francisco Waterfront Employers' association, said Bridges' prediction and charges that the employers had "done everything they could to increase friction" did not warrant a reply.

J. V. Sullivan Jr., San Francisco banker, was named chairman of a "Committee of One Thousand."

The Industrial Relations Association of Oregon was formed at Portland, with Horace E. Mecklen, insurance company executive, acting as temporary president.

E. R. Perry, general manager of the Los Angeles organization, was "borrowed" to direct formation of the Portland association.

The new strike declaration by Bridges, who is president of the San Francisco local of the International Longshoremen's association, came on the heels of a Coast vote by members of the powerful union.

Renewal of a working agreement entered into with employers after last year's strike was favored by the dock workers, but they voted to continue a blockade against cargo loaded under strike conditions in British Columbia.

WHITE WINNING IN MISSISSIPPI

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 28. (AP)—Hugh White, Columbia, lumberman, appeared today to be Mississippi's next governor on complete unofficial returns in yesterday's primary from more than one-half of the counties and a total vote of approximately 300,000.

After running neck and neck on early returns, White took a lead over Paul Johnson, Hattiesburg lawyer and former member of congress, late last night.

Anyways, mere man has been winning the laurels in many spheres which until recently were considered the exclusive domain of the gentler sex.

So while the women seek acclaim as steeplejacks, steamfitters, subway diggers and deep sea divers, mere man retaliates by taking championships in diaper derring, knitting, baking and pre-servicing.

Witness the case of David Hipple, 45, a bachelor farmer. His blackberry jam recently won the grand championship prize at the Cook County (Chicago) fair.

"I'm no expert, but I'm better than most women," said Hipple, whose jam was judged superior to that submitted by more than 100 women contestants.

West Tells Roosevelt Ham Cotton is Traitor, Announces Mr. Cotton

Supervisor N. E. West has jumped into the fight against Hamilton H. Cotton's distribution of democratic patronage in Orange county and has carried the fight direct to President Roosevelt, it was revealed to The Journal today. Mr. West did not announce it, but Mr. Cotton did after The Journal had asked him to confirm the rumor which spread about Santa Ana yesterday.

Mr. Cotton was reluctant to discuss the subject but finally over the telephone from Los Angeles this afternoon, admitted he learned direct from the White house itself that Mr. West had sent a telegram to the president in which he referred to Mr. Cotton as "the arch traitor to the democratic party."

The West telegram, according to Mr. Cotton, informed the president that he, West, is the only democratic member of the Orange county board of supervisors and as such should be the recognized head of a democratic patronage distribution in Orange county. He further said, according to Mr. Cotton, that he protested with vigor against Mr. Cotton remaining longer as dispenser of democratic favors.

Together with a copy of Mr. West's telegram to the president, Mr. Cotton received a letter from the White house asking to be advised about Mr. West and his party standing.

Mr. West could not be reached for his version of the affair.

BOYCOTTS OF ITALY SEEN IN LONDON

England Orders Army Officers to Remain Close at Hand

ITALY GIRDS TROOPS

Furloughs Cancelled for Entire Forces of Mussolini

LONDON, Aug. 28. (AP)—The British war office, a military source stated today, has ordered all senior members of the army council to remain in the vicinity of London and to take no more holidays until further notice.

As this order was disclosed, reports were heard here of labor movements against Italy in her conflict with Ethiopia. At the same time, it was reported that two foreign nations were ready to back Great Britain's plan of action at Geneva.

No official statement was issued concerning the order. In foreign military quarters it was considered as of a precautionary nature.

Having Maneuvers
Some members of the army council now are taking part in the annual maneuvers on Salisbury Plain.

The British army council is composed of: The secretary of state for war, the parliamentary under-secretary of state for war, the chief of the imperial general staff, the adjutant general of the forces, the quartermaster-general of the forces, the master-general of the ordnance, the financial secretary of the war office, and the permanent under-secretary of state for war.

Reports from Rome said the Fascist government, marshalling every resource to meet a possible crisis in East Africa, had decided to cancel all military furloughs.

Desertion Denied
The order, these sources related, will cancel the annual holiday of every member of the army, navy and aviation forces.

The minister of propaganda today officially denied reports published abroad that 12,000 Somali troops armed and trained by Italian colonial officers had deserted to Ethiopia with their arms.

British and continental labor leaders in London were said to be considering joint action by general strikes throughout Europe and by boycotts to hamper Italian war moves.

Ambassadors Ramon Perez de Ayala of Spain and Charles Zarine, the minister of Latvia, were indicated by informed quarters to have assured the British government that the governments they represent will support the British policy at Geneva in the council session September 4.

FARM BUREAU RAPS BOARD ON BUDGET

Measure Adopted Again, This Time by Vote of Three to Two

WEST OPPOSES IT

Challenges Statements Made by Jerome on Expenditures

Charges that if the board of supervisors adopted the county's $2,119,773 budget for the fiscal year of 1935-36 they were "sandbagging their friends" marked today's board meeting. The budget was adopted.

Adoption of the budget was protested by the Orange county farm bureau when the same delegation that appeared at the first hearing under leadership of Dion R. Gardner, chairman of the farm bureau tax committee, made its second appearance.

Directing his remarks to Chairman Mitchell, who had just returned from Washington, D. C., and was not present at the first meeting, Mr. Gardner said that his organization was protesting the present budget because it increased taxes rather than decreased them as was the intention when public utility properties were returned to the counties for taxation.

"Land Taxes High"

"It must be a grave situation indeed," he said, "that prompts our supervisors to go against the will of the people as indicated when they approved the Riley-Stewart bill returning the public utilities property to the county for taxation."

He declared that land taxes are unfairly high and that if the supervisors adopted the budget without paring it considerably, his committee would be forced to report back to the organization they represented that "they had been sandbagged by their friends."

Supervisor N. E. West aligned himself with the protestants by declaring that "no spirit of economy had been shown in preparation of the budget in that every request of every department had been granted."

Cites Specific Items
Faced with the necessity of putting up 20 per cent of the approximately $2,000,000 to be expended in this county by the government for unemployment relief, he said "the board will have forgotten the taxpayer" unless the budget is pared in every place possible.

Pointing out items that could have been eliminated from the budget, Mr. West called attention to appropriations for state fair exhibits this year. Mention of the fair exhibit appropriations drew the fire of Chairman John Mitchell who declared, "You were the one who voted in favor of placing an exhibit at the San Diego fair, Mr. West. I opposed that expenditure but you did not."

Supervisor W. C. Jerome accused the farm bureau delegation with being unfair in their protest and declared "there has been an element of unfairness toward the board of supervisors in this situation."

"Represent Government"
"We are not only representing the people of Orange county," he said, "but to a certain extent are representing the federal government that is forcing us to do certain things."

"You are ignoring the fact that many of the increases in this year's budget have been brought about by the people themselves. Approval of the Riley-Stewart (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

PRESIDENT SIGNS GOLD SUIT BAN AND OIL PACT MEASURES

VARIETY OF LEGISLATION APPROVED

Also Ready to Put His Okeh on Neutrality and Coal Bills

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. (P)—President Roosevelt added a wide variety of New Deal legislation to the statute books today, including federal assent for interstate compacts to conserve oil and gas. The gold suit ban was signed late yesterday, he revealed, and within a few hours the neutrality and Guffey coal measures were to follow.

Among other last-minute congressional enactments approved included:

Survey for a highway connecting the northwestern part of the continental United States with Alaska.

Will Veto Some

Trade investigation of income and economic conditions of farmers.

Some of the minor legislation will be vetoed, he informed his press conference, without telling which.

Necessity for considering the strained relations with Russia and how to finance a start for the social security program combined with other tasks to preclude the planned week-end rest at Hyde Park. He worked until 1 a. m. today.

Reporters were told the neutrality resolution was satisfactory to him. It provides an embargo against two belligerent nations and therefore is considered by him to meet the existing situation.

By the time congress meets again, he said, the situation would be changed.

He did express a little disappointment that the resolution failed to include any power over loans to warring countries.

No Benefit Payments

He agreed with information in official quarters yesterday that it would not be possible to distribute now any of the benefit payments provided by the defeated efficiency appropriation bill carrying funds for the social security program.

After consultation with Comptroller-General McCarl and congressional leaders, he said no legal way had been found so far to make the intended benefit payments for crippled children, dependent widows and the old age pensions.

The appropriation bill carrying $76,000,000 for this work was lost by the filibuster of Senator Huey

Long, who refused to let it come to a vote in the closing rush.

Mr. Roosevelt probably will go on his trip to the West Coast the last week in September.

The only definite places he has put on his itinerary are the Boulder canyon dam site on the Colorado river and the California-Pacific exposition at San Diego.

MORE ABOUT BUDGET

plan alone is responsible for heavy increases in two county departments' expenses for the purpose of changing over the system of taxing.

"The board today is faced with producing approximately $544,000 over last year's expenses, the need for which we are not responsible for creating."

Not to Spend Unwisely

"The board has attempted to prepare this budget in the fairest and most decent manner possible in order that the money we are forced to raise will be put to beneficial uses for the people, and we will place as much as possible into the reserve fund not to be spent unless such expenditure is absolutely necessary."

He also declared that he would "rather see the board spend $100,000 for welfare work than $50,000 through the sheriff's department which will be necessary should we not make adequate provisions for this relief."

Attacking Supervisor Jerome's statements upholding the budget, Supervisor West declared that over a period of 10 years he has observed the unhealthy trend of government to expend taxes far in excess of income and growth.

"Any government," he declared, "can go only so far along its path before it falls through inability to pay. Anyone can present, as Mr. Jerome has done, reasons why money must be spent, and can justify increased expenditures until the taxpayer is bankrupt."

Attacks Advertising Fund

"Every phase of government, looked at from the standpoint of the tax-spender, is viewed in its worst circumstance, and provisions to meet the gravest conditions are provided. Take the government matching program for instance—I do not believe that we can be expected to spend more money for that function this year than we did last year."

Another expenditure that he attacked as too high was the $6500 allowed for advertising the delinquent tax list next year. He declared "we know that this list can be legally advertised for half the amount set up in the budget through competitive bidding."

Before calling for a vote on the budget, Chairman Mitchell called the board into executive session, following which the motion to adopt the budget without change was made by Supervisor Jerome and seconded by Supervisor Willard Smith.

Praises Sincerity

Chairman Mitchell addressed the farm bureau committee and said he believed the members were sincere in their protest and that they still had faith in the board on the basis of last year's budget. He pledged that of the money raised this year, not one dollar would be expended unless such expenditure is absolutely necessary.

"We do not want this county to find itself in the same position, however, that several adjoining counties have found themselves during the past year. We do not know what the federal government will do, but we must be prepared and I promise that not one cent will be spent needlessly."

Following adoption of the budget he invited members of the farm bureau tax committee to confer with the board from time to time on proposed expenditures, and promised that recommendations by that group would be listened

MORE ABOUT ETHIOPIA

League of Nations against Italy in its conflict with Ethiopia.

In a four-hour session, the cabinet heard Laval's plan to induce the league council to regard an Italian war against Ethiopia as a "colonial" expedition.

The premier, it was learned from a responsible source, has been given a virtually free hand to negotiate in the settlement at Geneva. The ministers were reported to have agreed that it was imperative for France to retain the friendship of both Italy and Great Britain, but that it was important to save the league from a loss of prestige by attempting a program which French authorities said they thought was impossible.

Hope for a solution, Laval was said to have told the ministers, was brightened by Il Duce's agreement to present the case at Geneva, indicating a desire to avoid a break with the league or the big powers.

5000 EGYPTIANS WILL HELP ETHIOPIA

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 28. (P)—The Ethiopian minister to Cairo today informed Emperor Haile Selassie that 5000 Egyptians, both Mohammedans and Coptic Christians, were ready to form a foreign legion to fight against Italy.

The Ethiopian consulates at Cairo and Port Said were described as besieged by crowds of applicants seeking enlistments in the Ethiopian army.

Authoritative sources, however, said the government would await the result of the forthcoming League of Nations council session at Geneva before accepting these volunteers.

General De Vergin, Ethiopian military adviser, announced: "During the last six months, approximately 6000 Somalis in the service of the Italian army have deserted on the Ogaden front and 2500 on the northern front, many of them bringing modern Italian rifles, their horses and other equipment. We have not been informed of any recent extensive desertions."

MARCONI TO HELP IL DUCE'S ARMY

GENOVA, Aug. 28. (P)—Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of wireless telegraphy, will direct the telegraph, telephone and wireless communications of Mussolini's armies in East Africa, intimates of the inventor said today.

They said Marconi had already volunteered for East African service.

MUSSOLINI MEETS FOR VITAL PARLEY WITH THE ITALIAN ARMY

BOLZANO, Italy, Aug. 28. (P)—Premier Mussolini, with six cabinet ministers and 11 under-secretaries, concluded participation in army maneuvers today and came to town for a cabinet meeting which a high official said would "produce information on the Ethiopian situation."

MORE ABOUT WATER

for more than a week in connection with the county's application for an outright grant of approximately $7,000,000 for carrying on the flood control project under army supervision, Chairman John Mitchell of the board of supervisors declined to tell the result of his trip until after a conference with other board members.

He said that the addition of $2,000,000 to the cost of the project for housing, by the army engineers, had removed the project from the possibility of financing by the department. He said that there is a possibility that this requirement can be eliminated, however.

An indication that the government is considering the water project seriously was seen yesterday in a telegram received by Dan Mulherron, Works Progress administration head here, which asked information on the number of men who could be put to work on the water project. The wire came from Ralph G. Wadsworth, deputy administrator for the WPA.

The message said that 5615 men would be needed on the project. Some of these, it was suggested, might come from Los Angeles and Riverside counties. Mr. Wadsworth said that the contract system would be used and prevailing wages paid if the project went through.

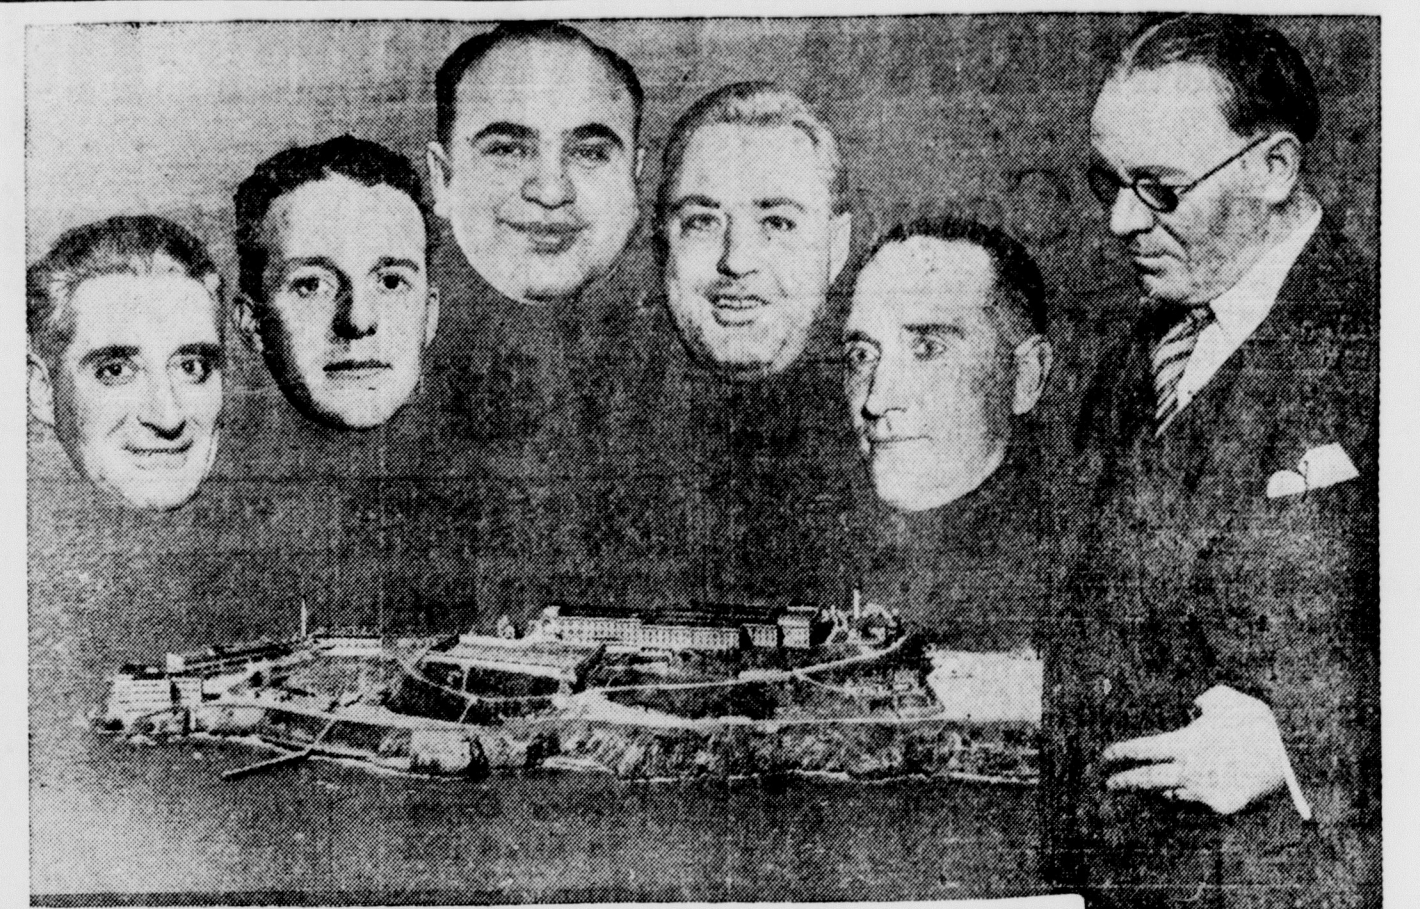

to sympathetically.

The invitation was scoffed at by J. Allen Knapp of Garden Grove who declared "our coming in to confer with you on expenditures probably would do as much good as our trip here today did. You will have the money and will spend it regardless of our opinion."

In a letter to the board which was submitted by the farm bureau committee it was pointed out that actual county expenditures last year were $1,473,750, and that with $100,000 added for meeting liberalized conditions of the old age pension law the actual amount needed for the year 1935-36 would be $1,573,750. With balances and other revenue amounting to $372,665 on hand, there would be the necessity for raising $1,201,085 for governmental purposes.

"This program," the letter stated, "would permit of a maximum tax rate against the entire county for general county purposes of a little less than 63 cents."

Warden Of Alcatraz Raises Curtain On Life Among The 'Hardest Boiled'

By DUDLEY ROSS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28. (P)—"They behave. Of course they don't like it."

That is how James A. Johnston, warden of the Alcatraz Island federal penitentiary describes the attitude of his charges, Uncle Sam's hardest-boiled wards.

The prisoners—whose roll, if it were called, would read like a "who's who" of public enemies and includes Al Capone, other former "big shots" of the criminal world and Harmon M. Waley, convicted kidnaper of George Weyerhaeuser, one of the island's most recent arrivals—are confined behind a "Wall of Silence."

Warden Johnston, white-haired veteran penologist, however, unbends sufficiently to give a general description of the prison life.

Kept Busy

"They are kept under continual watch, and we always know where they are. There is no chance of hiding under a barrel in an alley."

"We try to keep them always busy, but we don't try to be cruel. The men work at factory sorts of work such as laundry, shoe repairing, clothing or around the prison. It is only work for the government. They behave. Of course they don't like it."

"We try to build a habit and an atmosphere of behavior, into which they step as they arrive. That is why we bring them in small groups, so we can handle them easily."

Routine Kept Secret

Johnston smilingly declines to give a sample day's routine at the prison, located on a rocky little island in San Francisco bay. It has been termed America's "Devil's Island."

"We don't give out the definite routine," he points out, "because we want to build up a psychology in men in other prisons of not knowing what they're up against at Alcatraz."

The success of the Alcatraz policy recently was announced by Sanford Bates, director of the federal bureau of prisons, who said the island prison had had "a wholesome and almost soporific effect" on inmates of other penitentiaries. He commented upon the "astonishing quiet" at both Atlanta and Leavenworth.

'Outside World' Really Outside

Regulations at Alcatraz are part of the definite federal campaign to "deflate" the inmates and break their connections with the criminal world.

That campaign includes sharp limitations on all contacts with the outside. Only one visit a month, and that from a blood relative, who has been checked by federal authorities, is permitted a prisoner.

Johnston points out. The number of letters a prisoner may write is curtailed, and they may go only to a carefully culled list of relatives.

The prisoners are not permitted to have newspapers because, as the warden puts it: "There is too much spot news of them and their kind and crime. It might be too stimulating, or I'd better put it, too exciting in the wrong way."

Books and magazines from a selected list are allowed, but the latter must be sent direct from the publisher and must contain nothing derogative of government and authority.

Arrivals Announced

The policy of breaking all outside contacts goes further. No news of a particular prisoner or his activities passes from behind the walls. The hope is he will be forgotten.

Trips of prisoners to the prison are kept secret, as in the case of Waley, because there might be dangers.

"We don't mind admitting when they have arrived," says Johnston. "That's all."

The first inmates arrived from Atlanta in a "ghost train" in August, 1934. It now houses some 250 men.

Five persons were injured near Dallas, Tex., when a motor bus ran over a cow.

The Chinese distilled liquor long before the Christian era, and "arak" was made in India as early as 800 B. C.

CLOSING OF SERA PROJECTS TOLD BOARD BY HALLORAN

Closing down of six projects being completed under the State Emergency Relief administration was announced to the board of supervisors yesterday in a letter signed by Terrence Halloran, SERA director for Orange county.

The projects which were ordered closed as of August 22 were: Road widening and surfacing in Silverado canyon, Telegraph canyon motorway, Villa Park storm drain, Buena Park Memorial hall, Irvine park, and Santiago creek.

Supervisor Willard Smith said that an additional four days had been allowed on the Villa Park storm drain project to permit completion of pouring concrete. The board was informed by Nat Neff, highway engineer, that all the projects have been filed for approval with the Works Progress administration when that agency starts functioning.

NEW FISHING PATROL BOAT WILL ANCHOR AT NEWPORT HARBOR

COMMISSION TO BUILD CRAFT

Fish & Game Group Asks Bids on Boats to Aid in Enforcing Law

NEWPORT BEACH.—Establishment of a base for the state fish patrol at Newport Beach, with a new 45-foot patrol boat stationed here, has been announced by the State Fish and Game commission. Decision to use the local harbor as headquarters for the craft was announced after bids had been called recently for construction of two of the new boats.

According to an announcement by George D. Nordenholt, director of natural resources, the new fishing reserve on the Orange county coast, as well as the reserve around Catalina island and in Santa Monica bay, would be patrolled by the first of the new craft.

Plans of the commission include construction of seven new boats, it was announced. Each is to be 45 feet in length, powered by gasoline motors and will have a top speed of 25 miles an hour.

The first boat, stationed at Newport, will cover a triangular course between this port, Catalina island and Santa Monica, it was reported.

Enforcement of the $2 ocean fishing law will be a part of the duties of the crew of the new boat, it was indicated.

No announcement has been made by the commission regarding enforcement of the anti-seining law along the county coast, but members of committees appointed to seek aid in enforcement are expected to contact fish and game authorities and ask their assistance in the work through use of the new boats.

Coast Lines

By McDONALD WHITE

If loud guffaws of convivial laughter are heard issuing from the center of Laguna's business district between the hours of four and five any afternoon, it's fairly certain that members of the "Amen Corner" are holding court in the Sandwich Mill. Over their coffee cups world affairs are quickly settled; politics, local and otherwise, are juggled; sports are replayed or prognosticated on the spot; battles are fought; kings are forced to abdicate; pretensions are elected—anything or nothing can happen in "Amen Corner."

The members—Frank Cuprien, Jim Hutchings, Ned Chopin, Chuck Danner, Andrew S. Hall, Capt. George Portus, Dr. A. H. Wright, Ed Wilson, H. H. Henshaw, John J. Don, Wilkie, Arthur Peterson, J. E. Bishop, H. B. Lindberg, Leslie F. Kimball, Dr. Paul D. Conover, Sherman Paddock, Leonard H. Hardie, J. W. Hardie, A. M. Baldwin, Earle M. Hatheway, F. W. Shields, Harry Huston, Joe Jahraus—all must bring a cake on their birthdays.

Says Jim Hutchings, one of the originators of the group, "We couldn't talk sense on a bet."

Has anyone ever noticed that single red light that occasionally glows above the big Hotel Laguna sign? Policemen excluded, because they're supposed to cock an eye in that direction at all hours of the night. Now Policemen Richard Smith says it can be seen from many vantage points up and down the coast. Just in case the department car is out cruising.

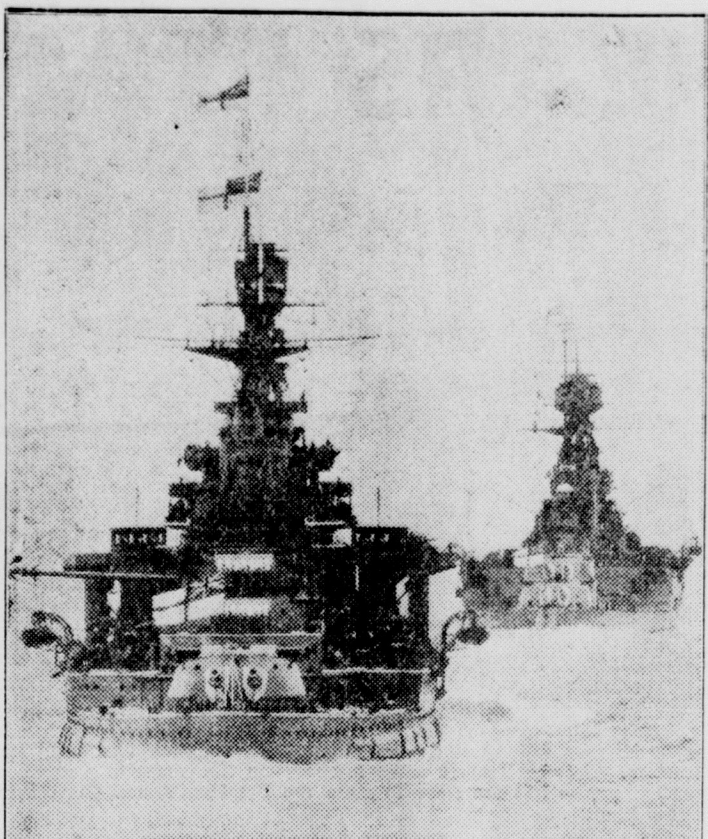

If the night operator at the telephone office gets a police call, she makes a contact and on goes the little red light over the hotel. Officers on duty, seeing it, head for the station or call up from the nearest phone. And apparently this system works better than mental telepathy.

Yum-yum! Spied a whole flock of new lobster traps piled up on the beach at Fisherman's Cove. What does that mean? Just this. That on September first the season opens and anyone can buy these luscious bugs over the counter of Sam Piet's fish market. Yessir, broiled with plenty of butter, served piping hot and garnished with dainty slivers of lemon—there's a dish!

Those lobster traps on the beach, they're out there getting seasoned for their long dip in the deep. The three essentials of a trap are laths, chicken wire, and cement weights in the corners to hold them on the bottom. A day or two before the season opens these traps will be piled on rowboats and carried to the beach, known beds along the coast. There they are baited with fish (not too fresh) and lowered to the ocean bottom. A floating marker is anchored to each trap so that the rightful owner will later pull up his own and not another's catch. Usually the traps are raised every morning, the big ones thrown in a sack and the "shorts" (under 5 inches) thrown back into the water to grow up to be big ones that won't be thrown back into the water. The lobster merely crawls into a narrowing cone of wire, and he's in to stay.

Refugio Coronado, a young and agile man of 70-odd years, is probably the oldest fisherman on the coast. For the last many years Coronado has been building his traps and fishing for lobsters for a living. He

England Strengthens Defenses

In Great Britain's order to the defense machine to swing into position to maintain the empire's dominance in the Mediterranean, it was reported the fighting ships Renown (left) and Hood, two of the most powerful battle cruisers, had been ordered to reinforce the Mediterranean fleet at its base in Malta. RELIEF CORPS WORK ON STATE HAS MEETING PARKS RUSHED

SAN CLEMENTE.—Work on projects in San Clemente and Doheny State parks is progressing rapidly, according to a report from Robert C. Conner, superintendent, and Isador Steinhart.

At San Clemente, a crew of men under supervision of Virgil D. Westbrook, landscape foreman, has almost completed construction of shelters at the new camp ground area. The same crew is also finishing work on adobe fireplaces at campsites.

Work on the custodian's cottage and garage is almost completed at Doheny State park, it was reported. Construction work is under supervision of E. R. Bartlett, foreman.

Members of the CCC camp were entertained with a talking picture, presented by Leonard Pease, Department of Interior representative, recently. A short subject on baseball technique was also shown.

Men of the camp who were unable to make a recent trip to the San Diego exposition were allowed to attend this week. The camp orchestra and Bill Culver, organist, presented a program while visiting the fair.

TOWNSEND PLAN ORIGINATOR ATTENDS ANAHEIM RALLY

Crowd of 3500 Heard Dr. F. E. Townsend Speak at District Meeting Last Night in Anaheim City Park; Ted Craig on Program

ANAHEIM.—"Be patient with your legislators, don't scold them. They are not to blame for what they have done this year. It's your fault. You put them there, and didn't use good judgment when you did it," Dr. F. E. Townsend of Long Beach, originator of the Townsend Old Age Pension plan, told 3500 wildly cheering supporters at a rally held in the Anaheim park theater last night.

In January there is going to be a new congress, Dr. Townsend said. He pointed out that he did not necessarily mean election of new men, but that legislators will be made to understand wishes of the people.

ORANGE.—Scepter circle, O. E. S., held a meeting in the Masonic hall yesterday afternoon, with a discussion of future work occupying most of the session. Mrs. E. E. Kirkwood, president, announced that a luncheon and card party will be given September 19, with the public invited.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Thompson served as hostess for the afternoon, and served a dessert course. Present were Mesdames Phoebe Brown, Gwendolyn Thompson, Janet Jacobs, Angeline Courtney, Ed Stinson, Emma Homondale, Agusta Hayes, Ernest Stinson, Lillian Bishop, E. E. Kirkwood and Iva Lee.

Kearney Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Adams of South Clark street, has been ill for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Coffin of Lima, Ohio, who have been guests in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lowry and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lutz, have decided to remain in Orange for some time and have rented an apartment at 221 South Lemon street.

A meeting of the Trinity guild of the Episcopal church was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. J. Morey, North Bavaria street. Routine business was the order of the day, with no program given. Mrs. T. W. Burnett was co-hostess.

GARDEN GROVE CLUB HAS MEETING IN FULLERTON

GARDEN GROVE.—Monday Afternoon Star club members met at the Isaac Walton cabin in Fullerton this week. Hostesses were Mesdames Mae L. Henry, Dorothy Jentges and Mary Ritchey. A picnic luncheon was followed by an afternoon of bridge, with Mrs. Alice T. Smith winning high score prizes and Mrs. Dorothy Thornburg low prize.

Others attending were Mesdames Ann Haster, Mertie Fabelson, Letty Lee Robbins, Mabel Doig, Glee Newsom, Ethel Schauer, Ella Wheeler, Mae Pearson and Miss Gertrude Jentges.

"If this congress cannot be made to see our way, then let us have a new congress," he added.

"We are entering upon a new era in civilization," he said, "where none of the past philosophies can be used. We must buy ourselves back to prosperity. That's the only way. If we don't, we will see a brief spurt, as long as people can buy, but soon the market will be satiated, and we will have other troubles."

Dr. Townsend told of operation of his plan, with segregation of people into three classes. First, those from infancy to majority; second, those between majority and the age of retirement age, the "workers," and last, the elderly people, "graduate citizens."

He visualized a civilization of the future, when no one over 45 years of age would work, and when politics would be an honored and revered profession, all through education of the people.

"To get and to hoard and to save is not the philosophy of the new age," he said. "We can no longer hope to create riches unless there is a demand on the part of all of us, based on our ability to buy," he added.

Among other speakers at the rally was Ted Craig, speaker of the state assembly, who brought greetings from the legislators. He lauded the Townsends for "at least trying to do something." "We cannot expect our people to exist on $45 to $50 a month," he said. "Even though we have aid for the needy aged in California, I feel that we must do something. This may not be the answer, but you can get just exactly what you want with your votes," he concluded.

Many local speakers and representatives from state headquarters were heard. A musical program was presented.

V. F. W. GROUPS HAVE MEETING

ORANGE.—Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary both held meetings in the V. F. W. hall last night. Hugh Hill, president of the V. F. W., appointed a committee of Horace Newman, Wesley Davis and C. C. Miller to prepare an entertainment for ex-service men who are in a camp near El Toro.

The entire staff will go to the camp next Wednesday evening to stage an entertainment.

A steak-bake in the near future was planned by Auxiliary members. Three visitors were present, Mrs. Esther Hendrickson, president of the Santa Ana organization; Mrs. Opal Walter and Mrs. Mary Borg, both of Fullerton.

LAGUNA SCOUT MEETING HELD

LAGUNA BEACH.—Troop 15 of the local Boy Scouts met last night at the high school under direction of Bill Kellogg, Scoutmaster, and Pete Zizer, assistant. Outdoor games were played, and venison was served as a special treat.

The troop adjourned to the meeting room, where they were told about the new Boy Scout hall that has already been started back of the high school buildings.

Earle M. Hatheway, chairman of the local council, and G. E. Thompson, secretary, are in charge of plans for construction of this new scout hall, which should prove a boon to renewed scout activities here.

OCEANVIEW BOYS ON CAMPING TRIP

$672,432 FHA WORK DONE IN COUNTY

County Advisory Board for Better Housing Elects Officers

The better housing program in Orange county has brought about modernization and repair jobs costing $672,432 since last October 1, it was reported yesterday afternoon at the organization meeting of the newly appointed advisory committee, held in the chamber of commerce building.

The report was made by Mrs. Zilda Oxart, supervisor of the better housing survey for the county. She also reported that $403,459.20 of this sum is figured to have been spent for labor, on the basis of workers getting 60 per cent of the total cost of the jobs.

Mock Named Chairman
At the organization session Carl Mock, realtor, was elected chairman of the committee. Howard I. Wood, chamber of commerce secretary, was named secretary, to be assisted by Mrs. Oxart. The committee replaces one which resigned about a month ago.

C. K. Dodds, bank manager, R. C. McMillan, contractor, John Knox, hardware dealer, and Mr. Mock were committee members present. Other members of the group are A. C. Eisenberger, bank manager, Robert Mize, attorney, and W. D. Ranney, dairy manager.

Mrs. Oxart's report also showed that the better housing program, a project of the county and the State Emergency Relief administration, has cost $33,230.99 since last October 1. An average of 98 persons have been employed in the county. Canvassers have made 41,253 calls. She said that property owners have indicated they would undertake 33,074 modernization or repair jobs with an estimated total cost of $2,385,871.

Results Are Told
Since June 1, the report showed, nine property owners have made commitments to build new construction costing $44,740, while 12 others have taken steps to refinancing old construction in the amount of $17,820.

James H. Barry, field representative for the Federal Housing administration, reported that he had found a tendency for more banks to take an interest in the better housing program. Mr. Dodds pointed out that it is a government program and that he and his bank are behind it 100 per cent.

The Orange county project consists of surveys made to find property owners who wish to modernize, repair or equip their homes or buildings, with this followed up by assistance in making applications for loans.

GRAND OFFICERS TO HONOR SANTA ANA O. E. S. LEADER

Homage will be paid Orange county's first grand star point when Mrs. W. J. Dean, Grand Ruth, is honored at a reception by her own Eastern Star chapter, Santa Ana No. 389, at 8 p. m., Wednesday, September 11.

Plans for the event were made at Monday night's meeting of Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S., in the Masonic temple.

Grand officers are expected to attend the event as well as more than 350 friends of the honoree. George Sipe, her patron when she was worthy matron of No. 389 in 1932, will act as master of ceremonies.

Past matrons, under Mrs. George Sipe, will form the reception committee. Past patrons will act as ushers. T. S. Hunter will be in charge of the program. Other committee chairmen are Mrs. Lloyd Folger, decorations, and Mrs. John Bruns, refreshments.

Committee chairmen appointments for the September 9 and 23 meetings included Mrs. T. S. Hunter, decorations, and Mrs. August Whiteman, refreshments. September 9 will be "courtesy night" with officers from county chapter in the chairs.

Flowers were arranged Monday night by a committee composed of Mrs. V. G. Pagenkopp and Mrs. Clifford Ranney. Refreshments were served by Mrs. T. Overton, Mrs. C. L. Neuschwanger, Carlyle Dennis, and Harvey Dimmitt. In the play of bridge, awards in contrast went to O. H. Holmes, Lloyd Folger, Mrs. Rheta Crawford, Mrs. Don Edwards, and in auction to Mrs. Bruns, Mrs. W. C. McFarren, T. J. Hunter and Dr. C. H. Cleland.

SHAW IS WILLING

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28. (AP)—Major Frank L. Shaw, responding to charges hurled at his administration by Rheta Crawford, associate pastor of Angelus temple, today had offered to match his "record as a public official" with the evangelist's threats of a recall movement.

CHAMPION WIFE KISSER!

Salutes Mate 750,000 Times

Here's a record for husbands to beat! Commodore George A. Corry of western Long Island Sound, white-haired "daddy" of star boat races, has kissed his wife 750,000 times in the past 48 years.

The debonair commodore claimed the record last night at an associated chambers of commerce meeting in Huntington Beach, at which skippers and their crews, competing in the International star boat races at Newport

His Excellency—

The Governor of Illinois

Henry Horner, the third democratic governor of Illinois since the Civil war, is a bachelor, a movie fan and a collector of Lincolnia. . . Bald, stout and affable, he is a good speaker and campaigner, but often neglects contacts to work until after midnight in his office in the 22-room executive mansion, where he lives alone, except for servants and frequent guests. He was a Chicago judge before his election in 1932, where Horner got more votes in Illinois than Roosevelt. Now 54 years old, he was probate judge of Cook county for 18 years. . . Springfield's leading movie fan, Mr. Horner, seldom misses a picture, visiting second and third run houses as well as the larger theaters. A democrat, he is an authority on the first republican president, Abraham Lincoln, and owns one of the largest private collections of Lincolnia. He is Illinois' first Jewish governor. . . The late Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago, backed him for his first term, but he is heading his own organization in running for a second four-year term at the 1937 elections.

CARING OF MILK IS EXPLAINED

Simple rules for caring for milk in the home have been listed by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer. For the benefit of housewives who find it difficult to keep milk sweet during hot weather, Dr. Sutherland has outlined the rules as follows:

KEEP MILK AT LOWEST TEMPERATURE POSSIBLE

This preserves its good flavor and the milk remains sweet longer. Do not allow milk to be exposed to the sun. The sun shining through the glass bottle quickly spoils the flavor of the milk.

ICE REFRIGERATION

Place in refrigerator next to ice compartment.

REFRIGERATION WITHOUT ICE

Lack of ice should not discourage the use of milk. If ice refrigeration is not available, use one of the following methods, according to the circumstances:

Place in cooler located on north side of house where there is ample draft. Southern location is useless.

Place in shallow pan of tap water. Wrap moistened cloth (which always must be kept clean) around upper portion of bottle. Place lower end of cloth in water.

Place in cool well or basement. Place in iceless or "evaporation" refrigerators.

Cover with well moistened, clean, burlap bags.

KEEP MILK CLEAN

Always rinse cap on bottle before removing. This prevents dust from dropping into milk.

All vessels used as milk containers should be thoroughly scrubbed and scalded. Milk absorbs odors unless the container is thoroughly clean.

Replace cap immediately after using milk and return bottle to cool place. Milk is extremely perishable. It should be protected from dust and dirt at all times.

Milk must always be covered. If the bottle cap is lost, invert a tumbler over the bottle.

Milk removed from a bottle should be used and never put back into the bottle.

Day old milk should never be mixed with fresh milk. Early souring and other forms of milk spoilage thus are avoided.

WPA LEASE GIVEN BOARD'S APPROVAL

Formal approval of a lease for a portion of the Ramona building to be used by the Works Progress administration was given by the board of supervisors yesterday. Under terms of the lease, which is for one year, the Irvine company, owners, will receive $150 monthly as rental.

Beach, were guests. Many wives of contestants and chamber of commerce members were present.

In an entertaining and rambling talk, Commodore Corry proudly praised Mrs. Mary L. Corry for winning an eastern star boat race. He then remarked that he had kissed Mrs. Corry five times daily for 48 years. No one present challenged his record.

Mr. Corry built the first "Ancestor" to the present star boats in 1901.

STATE INCOME SHOWS GREATEST INCREASE SINCE DEPRESSION

IMPROVEMENT
OF BUSINESS
'STARTLING'Survey of Tax Receipts
Points to Wide-spread
Healthy Gains

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 28. (AP)—Business improvement, once more is fattening California's treasury, which has seen lean days since the dark period of depression dating back to 1929.

A survey today of tax receipts from the state's eight principal sources of revenue shows healthy increases up and down the line.

The largest of these and probably the most indicative of the upward road business is traveling is recorded in the bank and corporation franchise tax.

29 PER CENT GAIN
Charles J. McColgan, franchise commissioner, said today that returns for the first seven months of 1935 show an increase of 29 per cent over the same period of 1934.

Collections at the end of that period totaled $3,367,000, compared to $2,621,000 for the same seven months of last year.

The increase is of particular significance in that the franchise tax is levied on the basis of income for the preceding year. In other words, the 1935 tax is figured on a percentage of 1934 income, so the increase actually reflects the improved earnings of banks and corporations in California for 1934.

"It is the largest increase since the prosperous years before 1929," said McColgan. "A slight increase was recorded in 1934, but it does not compare with 1935, which is almost startling."

Three other taxes also are making long strides toward better returns.

Sales Tax Jumps

The sales tax, heaviest revenue producer for the state, shot up nearly 20 per cent in the first quarter of 1935 over the same period of 1934, totaling $14,704,821, compared to $12,286,480.

An increase of 19 per cent has been recorded in the returns of the inheritance tax for the fiscal year ended last June, compared to the same period of 1933-34. The collection totaled $4,945,034 against $4,157,771 the previous year.

Up 18 Per Cent

The insurance tax, assessed on 1934 premiums, was up 18 per cent in the fiscal year ended last June over the same period of 1934. It totaled $6,566,149 against $5,535,712 in 1933-34.

Returns of the state's four other major taxes show these increases: Gasoline, California's second largest revenue producer, was up 7 per cent for the first seven months of 1935 over the same period of 1934, totaling $24,713,470 against $23,114,136, and gallonage of California petroleum companies increased $4,000,000.

Truck Tax High

The truck tax, which is 14 per cent for the first six months of 1935 over the first six months of 1934, totaling $556,505 against $480,168.

The beer and wine tax, totaling $920,000 for the first six months of this year against $833,153 for the same period of 1934, was up 11 per cent.

The motor vehicle license plate tax increased 9 per cent, totaling $8,838,074 for the first seven months of 1935 against $8,069,925 for the same period of 1934 and total registration of all motor vehicles increased 124,094.

3 SUITS AGAINST DRIVER SEEK
TOTAL OF $136,630

Three suits for damages totaling $136,630 were started in superior court yesterday against Thomas N. Willis, driver of an automobile involved in a crash with another car August 22, last.

The suits were filed by C. C. Queale, Fullerton printer and driver of the other car, who is asking $52,750; Miss Stella G. Grainger, a passenger in the Queale car, who is seeking $31,260; and Miss Lenore Ethelyn Grainger, another passenger who is suing for $52,620.

According to the complaint, Mr. Willis' alleged reckless and negligent operation of his automobile was responsible for the crash at Stanton road and Chapman street. Mr. Queale and both his passengers suffered internal injuries as well as cuts, bruises and broken bones.

He's Duce's Counterpart

With trouble brewing between Italy and Ethiopia, the people of Eugene, Ore., stare more than ever at Harvey Dayton, a shoemaker. For Dayton's resemblance to Benito Mussolini, Italy's premier, is startling. Dayton was the hit of the show with a characterization of Il Duce at a recent University of Oregon theatrical performance. Since then crowds have come to his shoe shop to look him over. So far as he knows, Dayton is of American lineage.

Hillcrest Park's Picnic
Ground at Fullerton One
Of County Beauty Spots

(This is the fourth of a series of articles having to do with the establishment and development of Fullerton's two parks, outstanding beauty spots and recreational institutions of Southern California. The series is intended to be informative to those cities which do not enjoy park facilities. Santa Ana is listed in the latter classification.)

By ROCH BRADSHAW

The picnic grounds "on top of the world" at Hillcrest park in Fullerton may not be very large, but they make one of the most unusual spots in Orange county for a family gathering or an organization outing.

Despite the fact that the grounds do not appear large, they provide tables for 320 persons, enough space for most picnics of clubs, lodges or industrial groups. There are two wood stoves at one end of the grounds, and eight burners of gas heat.

The real charm of the picnic retreat is the fact that it seems to be up in a little world by itself. The top of a knoll has been leveled off, a lawn covers the ground, and tables are located conveniently. Adequate parking space adjoins the picnic area.

Air of Privacy
A border of trees surrounding the tables gives the grounds an air of privacy. The location far above the city and away from highways makes the spot a quiet one where people like to linger and rest. Through the trees the view of Fullerton, far below, and the surrounding country stretching beyond, gives visitors an unusual outlook.

At the southern end of the grounds a large cross has been erected, high enough to be seen from the city below. At appropriate seasons this cross is lighted and spreads its gleam to watchers on the lower lands. Here, on Easter Sunday, Fullerton residents gather for their sunrise services each year.

Also at Commonwealth
The picnic spot is reached from the state highway leading out of Fullerton, the road into the park turning off just beyond the junction of the highway and the Brea canyon road.

Fullerton residents who decide on the spur of the moment to have an outdoor meal may choose to go to Commonwealth park near the heart of the city. In this park there are table facilities for 125 persons. This spot, too, is surrounded by shade trees which have grown there since the property was part of the Meigs estate.

Children in the picnic parties find the playgrounds and the wading pool an added attraction.

ON COUNTIES AND STATE

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 28. (AP)—Failure of the federal deficiency bill carrying the funds for the Roosevelt social security act in congress Monday night has loaded a new financial burden estimated at $6,000,000 a biennium upon the state and counties.

State officials estimated that adjournment of congress without passage of the deficiency bill also will deprive some 25,000 people in the state of pension relief.

The increase of $6,000,000 in state and county pension costs will result from the fact that under the revised state old age security act which becomes effective on September 15, pension rolls will be increased from 28,000 to 51,000.

Likewise, the age limit of 70 years will be cut to 65 and the average pension will be increased from $20 to $30.

These liberalizing features written into the existing act are expected to raise the pension costs of the state and counties from $14,000,000 a biennium to $24,000,000, the expenditure being equally divided between the counties and the state.

Had the federal deficiency bill passed, it was estimated the cost of pensions to the counties and the state would have been reduced from $6,000,000 a biennium through federal aid.

The deficiency bill also would have permitted the state to reduce a residence limit of 15 years, and it was estimated that this step would have brought the total number of people eligible for pensions to 75,000.

VETS RETURNED TO AID ROLLS

Spanish war veterans who were dropped from the pension rolls March 19, 1935, and who are not now on the rolls by reason of misconduct, non-participation, or income tax provisions of the pension law have been returned to the pension rolls, according to Harry Edwards, county veterans' welfare officer. In addition to the return of these veterans, according to provisions of the act as explained by Mr. Edwards, all veterans who are receiving pensions will be restored to their former amounts.

Increased pensions for widows also is included in the act of August 13, 1935, Mr. Edwards said.

Under the new schedule of pensions for widows the increase will boost the $22.50 monthly payment for a widow with no children to $30 monthly. Other increases will be widow with one child, boosted from $27 to $36; widow with two children, $31.50 to $42; widow with three children, $36 to $48; widow with four children, $40.50 to $54; widow with five children, $45 to $60; widow with six children, $49.50 to $66; widow with seven children, $54 to $72.

Pensions for orphans of Spanish war veterans also have been raised in the following amounts: One child, $27 to $36; two children, $15.75 each to $21 each; three children, $12 each to $16 each; four children, $10.12 to $13.50 each; five children, $9 to $12 each; six children, $8.25 to $11 each; seven children, $7.71 to $10.28 each.

CYCLONE CELLAR

STAR SKIPPERS FETED BY COUNTY CHAMBER GROUP

Honored by the presence of the world's best star boat racers, the associated chambers of commerce last night stepped forward to act as Orange county's best host, when International star boat skippers, their crews and their wives were guests at a banquet and entertainment in the American Legion hall at Huntington Beach. Two hundred persons were present.

The event was the climax to Orange county day in the International star boat competition at Newport Beach yesterday. Today was the last day of the races. Awarding of trophies to winners of yesterday's races, presentation of cups won by Orange county cities in the recent Tournament of Light at Newport harbor, followed by entertainment and a dance, made the occasion one of the brightest events of the year for Orange county.

No. 1 Star Skipper
Star boat contestants from nearly every quarter of the globe were introduced to the group by Commodore George A. Corry of Western Long Island Sound, father of star boat racing, who started the sport 25 years ago with star boat No. 1. Commodore Corry, white haired and genial, explained that each contestant had to prove his right to compete at Newport Beach by first defeating the best boats in his home fleet.

George Kellogg of Yorba Linda, president of the associated chambers, acted as master of ceremonies. When prizes for yesterday's races were presented, Mr. Kellogg called on James Webster, chairman of the regatta committee, to read the names of the winners. SPEED EVENT
DRAWS TEN
BIRDMEN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28. (AP)—Ten noted aviators in planes, some of which have a cruising speed estimated to be in excess of 300 miles an hour, made their final preparations today for the race across the continent to start Friday morning and end at the national air races at Cleveland.

Cash prizes of $12,500 have been offered with $4500 to the flier who reaches Cleveland first, and an additional bonus to whoever goes on to New York in an effort to break the transcontinental record of Col. Roscoe Turner of Los Angeles, of 10 hours and 2 minutes.

Airport observers at Union Air Terminal believed that a transcontinental record of nine hours or even less is within the grasp of the contestants.

Colonel Turner himself will be an outstanding favorite with his rebuilt Wedell-Williams racer. Others included Cecil A. Allen in a modernized Geebee No. 7; Jacqueline Cochrane in a Northrup Gamma; Benjamin O. Howard, the Ohio Airlines pilot, in the "Mister Mulligan," a plane of his own design; Royal Bonard in a Qed racing plane; Earl Ortman of Los Angeles in a Keith Rider racer; Seward Pulitzer of New York in a Northrup Delta; Russell W. Thaw in a Northrup Gamma; Maurice Rossi, the French ace, in a Renault, and Roy O. Hunt in a Lockheed Orion.

PAIR CONVICTED OF ASSAULT; SEEK PROBATION

Originally charged with assault with a deadly weapon, Rafael Ruiz and Carlos Canas were found guilty by a jury in superior court yesterday of simple assault. The men applied for probation and, before Judge James L. Allen, before whom the case was tried, set September 6 as the date for hearing on the applications.

Ruiz and Canas were accused by Jose Trujillo of having attacked him with a milk bottle and a knife. Testifying on their own behalf, Ruiz and Canas told the court and jury that Trujillo attacked them first and that they were acting in self-defense.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28. (AP)—Claiming he was illegally arrested and held in jail for 16 hours at Tagus, Tulare county, Theodore Torres, today had filed a $250,000 damage suit against Hullett C. Merritt, Jr., Pasadena millionaire, and others.

The action, taken in federal court, complained that Merritt and others had caused him to be ejected from a baseball game June 2 on property of the Tagus Ranch company, and then held in jail on a false charge of trespassing.

GILLETTE AUCTION ON

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28. (AP)—The auctioneer's cry continued to ring today in the mansion of the late King G. Gillette, razor magnate, as art treasures went under the hammer. The home itself has already been auctioned. It brought $68,000.

Miss Marjorie Burns, Popular Laguna Girl, Is Much-Feted Bride-Elect

Nuptial Date Slated For Oct. 6

Surprise Shower Given Shortly After Smart Announcement Tea

Miss Marjorie Burns, pretty and popular young daughter of Mrs. Alvin Roy Burns of Laguna Beach, had no sooner announced her engagement to John Kenneth Savage, son of Mrs. Marie Savage of Glendale, at a smart tea given last Saturday afternoon in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Curtis, 222 South Main street, than her friends began planning pre-nuptial courtesies for her, and the first of these was a surprise kitchenware shower at which Mrs. Esther Rummels entertained Monday evening in the Roy Rummels home, Tustin.

Santa Ana Student
Miss Burns, a graduate of Tustin High school and Santa Ana Junior college, has been doing secretarial work in the Craftsman studios, Long Beach. She has a host of friends throughout Orange county.

Mr. Savage attended school in Glendale and has since been in the employ of the Southern California Edison company, being at present connected with the Laguna Beach office.

Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Savage, Miss Viva Goff, Mrs. Cecil Suddaby, Mrs. Esther Rummels and Miss Valerie Sutton shared in various details of the hostessing at the announcement tea. Parchment scrolls in Chinese rice cakes served in the tea hour announced the wedding date of Miss Burns and her fiancé, Sunday, Oct. 6, in the bride's chapel of Santa Ana First Methodist church.

Kitchenware Given
In plotting to surprise the bride-elect, whose matron of honor she is to be, Mrs. Rummels entertained Miss Burns as a guest at dinner and after dinner the other guests arrived at the home for the shower party. Quantities of shining kitchenware in scarlet and gray went to the honoree for use in her new home.

Bridge was played. Prizes went to Misses Marian Pence and Julie Bingham of Laguna Beach. The hostess, Mrs. Rummels, and Mrs. Clarence Watkins assisted in serving a fruit salad with cheese wafers, mints and coffee. Dahlias and zinnias lent added color to the home, and centered the card tables in the serving hour.

Shower Guests
Guests at the shower included Mesdames A. R. Burns, Creed Watts and Ed Elterman, and the Misses Mary Iach, Blanche Tilgworth, Ruth Woodward, Mildred Pence, Nadine Mason, Dorothy Mason and Viva Goff, Laguna Beach; Miss Jane Ader, Long Beach; Miss Mildred Staples and Miss Vera McDonald, Irvine; Mrs. Meredith Savage, Los Angeles; Mesdames Marie Savage, Vernon Gray and Grace Pickett, Glendale; Mrs. Bruce Vegely, Artesia; Mesdames Elmer Curtis, Cecil Suddaby and Russell Goetting and Miss Frances Parks, Santa Ana; Miss Ida Lovegreen, La Verne; Mrs. Hugh Rummels and Mrs. Toy Handley, Orange and Mrs. Floyd Turner, Tustin.

The Thinkers
Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Do you think there are too many college graduates now, or do you advise the average young person to finish college?

Mrs. Leon T. Gillilan: I think it pays young people to complete college. They need that training to fit them not only for a single vocation, but to give them two or three things they can fall back on by way of making a livelihood. Then, of course, there is the cultural value of college training.

Mrs. F. C. Pope: It seems to me there are more college graduates than otherwise, out of work. If a young person knows definitely in what field he means to specialize, and if he has the urge to go to college, I'd say he should do so. Otherwise, I think he might as well find some sort of job and not work toward a diploma.

Mrs. Horace Scott: I certainly think going through college is well worth the effort involved. A good many individuals encounter a great difficulty in working their way through college in times past, and while it is true that their future was more secure for them, still today the same difficulty in finding lucrative positions faces the young person whether or not he goes through college. The cultural value of a college education is something worth struggling to gain.

Fullerton

Mrs. Farley's method of preparing the rice follows: "While washing the rice, put on a heavy pan and brown a small clove of garlic and onion in shortening. Drain the rice dry after it is washed, and put it into the onion-garlic mixture. Stir until thoroughly heated.

"Add to the rice two five-cent cans of tomato sauce. For this amount of sauce you should use two cups of water and two cups of rice. This makes enough to serve six or eight persons. Add salt to taste to the mixture.

"Cover with a close lid and put a pad under the pan. Let simmer under the lowest possible fire for about an hour until the rice is thoroughly cooked. You can remove the clove of garlic before serving the rice, if you keep the clove whole instead of cutting it up."

MRS. FLOYD HASKILL GREETED BY R. N. A. MEMBERS AT MEET

Welcome was extended Floyd Haskill and his bride, the former Miss Elizabeth Hunt of Hampton, Ky., whom he married before returning to Santa Ana August 1, at the meeting of Magnolia chapter, R. N. A., Monday night in the K. of P. hall.

His marriage was a surprise to his R. N. A. friends, and congratulations were extended on behalf of the group.

In the absence of the oracle, Mrs. E. U. Farmer, Mrs. Herbert Birt, vice oracle, presided. Plans were made for a reception for Mrs. Farmer on her return to the meeting September 9.

A report of the R. N. A. day at the San Diego fair was given by Mrs. Chester Scott, and a committee appointed for the soap demonstration party next month.

Mrs. Blackwell took high score prize in the play of cards which concluded the evening, and Mrs. Harold Tabb won the special award. A watermelon course was served.

50-50 CLUBMEN MEET FOR STAG, CHOOSE COMMITTEE

Men of the Southern California Fifty-Fifty club had a stag party Monday evening at the E. R. "Buss" McCoy home in Fullerton, and chose Dr. Al Colby of Los Angeles and Ralph Culp and Estee Brown of Fullerton to serve on a committee to plan the September social activity of the club.

Highlight of the 50-50 season will be the October annual inaugural dinner-dance, place to be named later.

Mrs. Brown served a midnight buffet supper.

Al Fernandez, Riley Huber, Lawrence Mitchell and Dick Ewert were present from Santa Ana.

SPANISH IDEA IS USED AT PARTY

Gay colored potteries and linens carried out a Spanish motif at the bridge party given last night by Mrs. Clyde Higgins in Orange for her club.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 28. (P.)—Neighbors of Ellen Glasgow, awaiting an opportunity to read her latest novel, "Vein of Iron," find the title phrase suggestive of the author herself.

They recall that Miss Glasgow has been credited with being the first southern writer to break away from the romantic tradition and unflinchingly face reality as applied to life below the Potomac.

Some Disapproved
Some of them evinced their disapproval when, in "Barren Ground" and the books which followed it, she pointed an ironic finger at things a "southern lady" had not been supposed even to observe.

But those who knew her realized that a "vein of iron" in her personality would make any protest useless. They recalled that she had defied tradition when as a girl still in her teens she published her first novel. Being a "professional writer" was considered distinctly not the thing for one of her sex and social position at that time.

A further reminder of this independence is seen by those who pass the writer's home on lower Main street. In a part of the city where most of the stately old homes have given way to garages, antique shops and rooming houses, it remains an oasis of Old Virginia.

Green vines relieve the austerity of the gray Georgian house and a high wall at the rear protects the shaded garden from a grim view of the state penitentiary not far away.

Cabel Calls
It is this house which Hugh Walpole has called his "American Home," and which frequently is visited by James Branch Cabell, whose social inaccessibility in Richmond is a social legend.

Within its charming interior, however, Miss Glasgow's gracious smile is not reserved for her more distinguished guests alone. She particularly enjoys conversing with young people, she will tell you, and it is through them that she keeps the youthful viewpoint of a writer who seeks to interpret reality in her novels.

MRS. O. F. TURNER ENTERTAINS AT CONTRACT PARTY

Five tables of contract bridge were in play Monday afternoon when Mrs. O. F. Turner entertained a party at her home, 1523 West Ninth street.

Assisting her were Mrs. Delbert Liggett, Mrs. John Vernon and her mother, Mrs. G. B. Burnett.

Bowls of pink and blue flowers were used to decorate, and the serving table was set with pink candies.

Prizes in the play went to Mrs. Jesse Elliott, Mrs. Don Edwards and a special award to Mrs. Walter Wagner of Anaheim.

Other present were Mrs. Don May and her house guests, Miss Grace Freeman of Pennsylvania and Miss Louise Pierson of St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Ira Barnes, Mrs. Ben Hefflinger, Mrs. Charles Givens, Mrs. Carlyle Dennis, Mrs. R. C. Edwards of Los Angeles, Mrs. D. M. Terhune, Mrs. Ned Hayes, Mrs. Herbert Allen, Miss Clara Richards, Mrs. Walter Schmid, Mrs. J. F. Jacoby and Mrs. John Cozad.

BUFFET SUPPER IS GIVEN FOR GUESTS

Los Angeles guests were honored at a buffet supper Sunday night at the home of the Rev. John Stivers and Mrs. Stiver, 709 South Birch.

Young people from the Orange Avenue Christian church comprised the guests. Those who were honored were Mr. and Mrs. David Stivers and sons of San Bernardino, Milton Stivers, Miss Mary Funk, and Miss Elizabeth Wright of Los Angeles.

Cecil Marks Made Head Of Class

Presidency of the Amistad class of the First Methodist church went to Cecil Marks last night when officers were elected at a business meeting and picnic supper in Irvine park.

Prizes in bridge went to Miss Helen Drinkern of Orange, a guest, who received a dainty box of lavender bath salts; to Miss Jerry Beach, who was given a manicuring set, and to another guest, Mrs. Florence Falkner of Orange, who won a gift incense burner and as the galloping prize, a "doggy" paperweight.

The hostess was assisted by Miss Rose Edwards, her guest for the evening, in serving a two-course supper.

Others present were Mesdames Charles Woodfill, Meredith Crumley and Walter Stark, and Misses Frances King, Ethel Chafe, Jo Ann Schott, Eleanor Morrill, Estelle Schlesinger, Louise Poe, Marcene Cook and Vivian Van Norman.

DE MOLAY MEMBERS HAVE OUTDOOR FEED AT DR. HORTON'S

Eight watermelons and 115 hamburgers were set before De Molay members last night when an outdoor supper party was held at the home of Dr. Roy S. Horton, 315 Cypress.

The group assembled at 6:30 o'clock around the outdoor grill. A radio entertained the boys following the supper, and a number of the group were interested in looking over the collection of guns which Dr. Horton owns.

Advisers at the affair were Dr. Horton, Dick Bradley, Arthur Munselle, George Wheeler, H. G. Lyman and Ray Spaulding.

Members present at the supper were Bob Fowler, Franklin Munselle, Maurice Lyan, Herbert Lyan, Ralph Wheeler, Bill Collins, Glen Cave, Phillip Youel, Lorraine Wagner, Dick Horton, Bill Musick, Harold Short, Bob Reid, Thomas Criddy, Bob Reid, Alvin Allen, Bill Milligan, Earl Haven, Ralph Bradley, Elson Gaebe, George Mathews, Abe Bergesser, Hans Bergesser, Maurice Birt, Dick Cocking, Ross Holly, Stanley Smith and John Mathews.

MRS. C. ORTON HAS LUNCHEON FOR WORTHY MATRONS

Eastern Star matrons of chapters of the 57th district were entertained yesterday at a luncheon given by Mrs. Clarence Orton, district deputy grand matron, at the shelter house at Huntington Beach.

During the afternoon, Mrs. F. B. Edwards of Orange gave a resume of her recent sojourn in China, Japan, and Hawaii. Others present at the luncheon were Mrs. Lynn Shrewsbury of Laguna, Mrs. H. H. Dimmitt and Mrs. J. F. Jacoby of Santa Ana, Mrs. L. W. Schauer of Garden Grove, and Mrs. W. W. Zeigler of Huntington Beach.

SANTA ANANES HOME FROM BEACH

Miss Harriet Gruetner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gruetner of 905 Oak street, and Miss Ruth Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Owens, 214 Owens drive, are home this week after spending a week's vacation at Laguna Beach.

They brought home pleasant memories and a good suntan.

Frequent Change of Blouse For Jumper Dress

PATTERN 9512
A favorite of the young high-school or college miss, this tailored jumper frock may change its blouse as often as its young wearer changes her mind. That's one reason why she'll never tire of it, for a different blouse each day will give it the life of many dresses. Wide, athletically inclined armholes and rounded neck make it comfortable for the most strenuous activities, while the released pleats of the skirt panel insure freedom of stride. Her blouse may be of voile, silk, or cotton, while wool, crepe or jersey are good ideas for the jumper. Complete, diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9512 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 16 requires 1 1/2 yards 54 inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards 36-inch contrasting.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

The Marian Martin summer pattern book will lead your way to warm weather chic! From its 40 pages view the parade of clothes for every occasion for every member of the family. Designs all beautifully illustrated, patterns all easy to make. Styles for the small girl, the dashing deb, the blushing bride and the mature matron plus some useful hints and some delightful reading. Send for your copy now! Price of book 15 cents. Book and pattern together, 25 cents.

Send your order to Santa Ana Journal pattern department, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif.

Kappa Delta Phi Feted At Party

Miss Ruth Harmon entertained her fellow members of Kappa Delta Phi sorority, Eta Gamma chapter, last evening at a bridge party in her apartment at 901 Lacy street.

Prizes in bridge went to Miss Helen Drinkern of Orange, a guest, who received a dainty box of lavender bath salts; to Miss Jerry Beach, who was given a manicuring set, and to another guest, Mrs. Florence Falkner of Orange, who won a gift incense burner and as the galloping prize, a "doggy" paperweight.

The hostess was assisted by Miss Rose Edwards, her guest for the evening, in serving a two-course supper.

Others present were Mesdames Charles Woodfill, Meredith Crumley and Walter Stark, and Misses Frances King, Ethel Chafe, Jo Ann Schott, Eleanor Morrill, Estelle Schlesinger, Louise Poe, Marcene Cook and Vivian Van Norman.

MRS. BENNETT IS COMPLIMENTED BY TAU DELTA PHI

Mrs. Forrest E. Bennett was complimented last evening with a shower of gifts for her Forrest Home cabin, at a dinner meeting of Tau Delta Phi in the home of Miss Kathryn Sexton, 1407 Spurgeon street.

Mrs. J. C. Sexton and Miss Louise Sexton assisted in serving the dinner at a long table and two smaller tables centered with zennias. After dinner bridge was played.

Guests included in addition to the honoree, Mesdames Gretchen Hill, Allan Howell, Kermit Maynard and Misses Eunice Bright, Lucille Howell, Violet Johnson, Alberta Sanford, Betty Vorce, Yvonne Nelson, Pauline Wells, Evelyn Hutton, Nancy Holt and Evelyn Chandler.

D. U. V. IS VISITED BY DELEGATION FROM FULLERTON

From the Julia Ward Howe tent in Fullerton, a large delegation came to attend the meeting of the Sarah A. Rouse tent of the Daughters of Union Veterans in the K. of C. hall yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Kathryn Crist was initiated as a new member at yesterday's meeting. Mrs. Nellie Parker was installed as chaplain with Mrs. Rowena Groat as presiding officer.

Plans for fall events were made. A rummage sale was scheduled and arrangements launched for the aides to serve dinner to the W. R. C. when their official inspection is held in September.

MISS MARTHA EHLEN RETURNS HOME AFTER TRIP NORTH

Miss Martha Ehlen of East La Verne street, Orange, is home this week after a summer trip north to San Francisco and thence by boat to Victoria and Vancouver, B. C.

She brought home with her for a short visit her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Ehlen of San Francisco, whom she visited while in San Francisco.

Her teaching duties in the Fullerton District Junior college foreign language department.

MINIATURE GOLF ATTRACTS MEMBERS OF JOB'S DAUGHTERS

Miniature golfing took the interests of Job's Daughters last night after their regular meeting in the Masonic temple. Accompanying the group of 30 who played golf were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crowe, Mr. and Mrs. Tom McCausland, and W. J. Dean.

September 10 was set for the initiatory degree and September 24 will have a short business meeting followed by a kid party. The committee in charge of the party includes Mary Crowe, Charlotte McCausland, Eloise Hickey, and Margaret Abel.

QUILT TO BE MADE FOR N. Y. WOMAN

Talents of Circle No. 3 of St. Peter's Lutheran church have spread as far as Rochester, N. Y., for this week came a quilt which is to be worked by the circle, for Mrs. J. A. Gnow of that city.

The group already has five quilts ahead of them for their Wednesday sessions in the basement of St. Peter's church, but they are eager to begin work on this one, which is to go such a distance.

SOCIAL OUTLOOK

Mary Stoddard Reader Scathes Middle-Aged Man Who Thinks Of Leaving Wife and Family for Girl

A middle-aged business man would turn his back on his wife and family and seek a new life with a girl whom he has loved for eight years.

He makes two excuses for his conduct: First, he has never known real happiness with his wife, who is above reproach, and whom he respects.

Second, he can and will provide financially for his family and the girl he wishes to marry. He asked this department: "How far does a man's duty go as regards marriage?"

By MARY STODDARD

Here is the first reader who chooses to answer him, and, although the advice isn't flattering to him, he asked for it, so we print it:

Dear Miss Stoddard: In answer to a letter signed John in a recent issue:

Let me say plainly he is just a big coward, tired of home, wife and children.

He says his wife is middle-aged; well, he is, too, and got that silly notion many men get at his age that they are younger than their wives and are entitled to young companionship.

What he should do is to go to his wife, tell her she looks as good to him now as on their wedding day.

He says he has gone with a good girl for eight years—Oh, no! Mr. John—No good girl would hold onto a married man eight years. If you were suddenly made blind, crippled or your business should fail, who would stay by you? The girl or the wife? The wife, of course. This is written by one who knows life and human nature.

We have had riches, poverty, pleasure and sorrow. But we are still happy and nearly 40 years married. Silly old John, your responsibility never ends toward your loyal wife and your family, who are entitled to have a respectable father whom they can respect.

A READER.

Vinegar and water make windows or glass clean. The vinegar cuts the grease and saves the windows from the powdery after-effects of too much soap. This mixture also helps to get off the dust and the dust that has been topped with a splashing rain. Use about one third of a cup of vinegar to two quarts of water. But if you want your windows or mirrors

Scrap From a Gardener's Scrapbook

By IDA D. DEAKINS

Right now is the time to plant winter-blooming sweet peas—so "don't put off 'til tomorrow..." and you know the rest.

August or early September is a good time to transplant evergreens, for they are then the most dormant. Don't fail to soak the soil very well before planting, and then make a saucer round the tree or shrub and water weekly until the rains come.

If you have oriental poppies, divide them now. If you've never had them, do get some; you'll find they're gorgeous.

Of course by now you have your bulb list made out, and perhaps your order placed. The Arabs give Mahomet the credit for saying: "If a man finds himself with bread in both hands, he should exchange one loaf for some flowers of the narcissus, since the loaf feeds the body, but the flowers feed the soul." I had not read this when I wrote these lines for our garden section's program last year: "A garden is a lovely place to tune our souls to play in the great orchestra of life." And I really believe it. Even though the garden be only a tiny spot, there is nothing to take its place.

Don't water your annual asters too much—it causes stem-rot. Cultivate often, but use the hose sparingly.

The seeds of delphinium I planted several days ago are up and doing nicely, thank you! When, or if, they bloom next spring, I'll look at them closely and see if they resemble the delphinium for which they were named. Delphinium is the Latin word for dolphin, and the round flat flower with its curving spur was supposed to look like a little dolphin caught on a flower stem.

How's your imagination? If you have a special flower that you like, and you want to keep its seeds, tie a paper sack over it before it matures. When mature, cut off and hang in a dry place with the head down, until ready to plant.

County Looks In Direction Of Beach

Orange county clubwomen today looked toward Huntington Beach—not because it's hot, but because that was the place of the Orange county federation of women's clubs' first 1935-36 executive board meeting.

From Santa Ana Woman's club, wended beach cityward Mrs. Earl M. Waycott, Mrs. William Wells, Mrs. William Whitehead, Mrs. R. G. Carman and Mrs. F. A. Martin.

Attending from Santa Ana Valley Elbel society were Mrs. E. D. White, southern district federation chairman of juniors; Mrs. Charles Carothers, Mrs. Paul Bailey and Mrs. Bailey's house guest, Mrs. C. E. Renouf.

CALUMPIT MEMBERS HAVE STEAK BAKE AT IRVINE PARK

Calumpit camp and auxiliary members of the United Spanish War Veterans took to the outdoors last night for their monthly social meeting and held a steak bake at Irvine park. More than 100 attended the affair.

Cards were played following the supper party.

FRANK MEAD JR. FAMILY SEES FAIR

Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Mead Jr. returned this week from a several days visit with Miss Lolita Mead of Santa Ana, Orange county hostess at the San Diego exposition.

Monday evening the Meads and Mrs. Mead sr. of North Main street motored to Los Angeles, where they were entertained at a dinner party and afterward went to Olvera street across from the plaza.

G. O. P. MUST WIN FARMERS

THIS is the last week of August, 1935. One year from now we shall be on the home stretch of another presidential campaign. Republican bookmakers so far are in very much of a quandary. If there is a winner available he is so far unknown. He is still running wild somewhere in the pasture and little attempt has been made even to locate him, much less to run him into the paddock and fit him with bridle and saddle and teach him the tricks of a slippery track.

Democrats expect to win again with the same offering that put them first over the finish line in 1932. While they still have the inside track next to the rail, they realize their bets are by no means certain. Much has happened to raise serious doubts. They are fearful of a surprise and already have begun to peddle bad medicine about such potential republican candidates as Herbert Hoover and Senator Borah.

The alarming feature from the republican point of view is the delay, the lack of leadership. During the lean years preceding the election of Woodrow Wilson the democrats, yearning and ever active, managed always to keep in the running with some kind of a candidate and in some instances produced the most spectacular campaigns in the country's history.

If there is to be republican victory next year, something of the determined spirit of the old-time democratic party, minus its destructive tactics, must prevail, as we see it. Republican success will not come about through hope and ideals alone. The bitterness that has come out of the controversy between the United States chamber of commerce and Mr. Roosevelt is likely to solidify democratic ranks and win some wavering converts instead of affording reprisal to offended business interests.

One thing appears certain: The republicans must win back the farmer vote. And they must be quick about it. There must be assurance that American agriculture is to have a break with the rest of the farmer world. There are few, even among farmers, who believe the AAA as now constituted is here to stay. On the other hand many sound thinkers are firm in the belief that some modified form of it, may be adopted as a permanent plan. The usual procedure of presidential campaigning will not be enough next year. The farmers are not likely to be won by the republicans through a three-day national convention and a superheated campaign of two months.

For more than two years the farmers have been propagandized for the AAA as they never have been for any rural remedy before. The democratic administration had of itself no way of reaching the farmers directly. It found its link in the long-trusted educational service attached to the state agricultural colleges, agricultural extension divisions and experiment stations. It gave over the job of putting through the AAA program to the extension service and county farm advisors. It is a huge and effective rural machinery, very close to the farmers, which the government has enlisted to work for the AAA. On top of that Washington has distributed many hundreds of millions to farmers in various subsidies.

Does the republican party expect to overcome all this by a few months of frenzied speechmaking? It is yet to be seen whether the republicans will know how to reach the rural vote next year. Something beside promises must be very certain if farmers are to abandon their present temporary security.

It is plain that the party cannot wait until next summer to start its campaign. Now—right now—is the time. The democrats realize it. They are letting no grass—or grass roots—grow under them that might hinder their progress. Take Hamilton H. Cotton's San Clemente party, for instance. Whether it was Mr. Cotton's idea alone or whether it had inspiration from higher up doesn't matter. The fact remains that several thousand democrats got together at the Cotton rancho last Saturday, had a lot of fun, talked politics, harmonized some differences and dropped a little money into milk bottles scattered about conveniently as receptacles for the 1936 campaign fund.

Republicans say they don't like those kind of picnics and prefer a more dignified way of going about the business at hand. That's fine. If they have a better way, let's hear about it. Most anything they might suggest would be interesting and decidedly heartening, we imagine, to party well-wishers.

ORANGE COUNTY ENTERTAINS

FIFTY yachtsmen, among whom were some of the world's most prominent, were given a taste of Orange county hospitality last night at Huntington Beach. They were guests of the associated chambers of commerce and of the citizens of Huntington Beach, and they had been attracted here by the International Star Boat regatta, which closes today at Newport harbor.

It has been a long time since Orange county has staged a prettier party. Those who attended—and there were approximately 200—went home with the conviction that these county gatherings are doing much to publicize the county and to unite the various communities in a common cause. There can be no hates if people really know each other; there can be no rivalries except healthy ones when people join forces socially or in a business endeavor.

And while we are on the subject, we should like to remark that one will travel far before he finds finer cooperation than exists between the coast towns. The entertainment for the visiting yachtsmen was suggested by Harry Welch, of the Newport chamber of commerce. The associated chambers used its regular meeting night for the occasion, and the Huntington Beach chamber of commerce saw to it that nothing was overlooked. It made one feel very proud to live in Orange county.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

The economic cyclones have never touched those serene and apparently content families who reside on the barges about New York's rivers and harbors. Life for them is just the same as five years ago, ten years ago, as placid as the chuck and sag at their doors.

The family outline seems to run true to form—mother, father, several children and the inevitable yipping fox terrier. I am told the elders rarely go out of their domain. Some have not seen Broadway for years and the majority have never been to the movies.

The sons have no ambitions save to be barge-men and the daughters aspire only to be barge-men's wives. The same clannishness exists in their circle that exists among coast fishermen. They regard the stranger coldly and want to be left severely alone.

At sundown they relax according to a set formula. The father leans back in his chair against the doorpost, puffing his pipe and indulging abstract gazing. The mother is always bending over her wash-board and the children stand idly. They never seem to play.

Carolyn Wells diversifies her mystery writing chore by concocting charades. For a time a number of years ago, her charades were as popular as a parlor diversion as backgammon today.

Miss Wells is a stickler for rules. The syllables must be represented by sound or by spelling, but not necessarily by both. Here is an example of one of her short ones: Long in my first hath Caesar lain. And by my last a giant was slain. My whole, with cold and silent ways.

Of grave demeanor, pithy phrase. Yet given to flattery and praise.

I turned into St. Luke's Place the other dusk, passing the former red brick three-story home of Jimmy Walker. A light was burning in the front room of the second floor, symbolical almost of the wandering boy. The green mayoralty lamps that grace the home of every mayor were not turned on. Several children, resting from play, sat on the steps. St. Luke's Place is one of the most Londonish looking squares in the metropolis. There are the leaning, shirt-sleeved men, always silent, and the Hogarthian women in aprons, always chattering. I asked a darkling Bertha Kalish type of stoop-sitter if the neighbors missed the former mayor. She replied with brisk frankness: "Not at all. We never saw him when he lived here."

Greenwich Village, incidentally, seems the last stand of the hokey-pokey ice cream man. So many flossier rivals have sprung up with their colored custards, double-decked cones and faintly hued ices on sticks. Thus the hokey-pokey man has vanished from most crowded sections. But in the Village I saw one whose perambulator was adorned with this: "Jake, the Hokey Pokey Man—Since 1900." Jake could have gone on as David Warfield in "The Auctioneer" without a make-up. Another drink retained in this mellow strip out of the long age is a lactar sherbet. A New England invention and once popular with school children at recess in Boston.

And speaking of drinks, potent and otherwise, they jockeyed me into one of the modernist bars, all white leather, chromium and collegiate bartenders, late the other evening with a poker group desiring a snack. The lure of the Welsh rabbit was irresistible and I succumbed. The others had their steins and seidels but, being still non-alcoholic, my liquid refreshment for such a dish was a puzzle. The head waiter ventured this suggestion—but I caught his sly wink at one of my fellows: "If you don't drink, try a milk and whisky with your rabbit. You will be surprised!" I suspect the mixture creates internal combustion and a glow.

Caruso used to shake up a drink for reporters he swore was liquorless yet had the kick of an army mule if imbibed in a quick gulp. The ingredients were Worcester-shire sauce, clam juice and a generous squirt of tobacco. Don Clarke, a hardy hoister in his day, tried one before breakfast one morning and on his way out skinned the cat on the famous Krickerbocker lobby.

O, yes—nearly forgot—the answer to Carolyn Wells' charade: Tombstone.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—An almost knock-down-and-drag-out verbal battle took place between Roosevelt and a delegation of congressmen before the President finally waived his major objections to the neutrality act.

The delegation was non-partisan—six democrats, two republicans and one farmer-laborite. It called to demand that the President cooperate in obtaining passage of the Pittman neutrality act, aimed at keeping the United States out of Europe's fast-brewing catastrophe.

Although already approved by the senate, it was blocked in the house by Sam McReynolds of Tennessee, chairman of the foreign affairs committee, who was working with Secretary of State Hull, also from Tennessee.

Upon receiving the delegation, Roosevelt explained at some length that the power to control foreign policy belonged to the Chief Executive, that the question of neutrality came under this heading, and that he wanted to protect these powers not merely for himself, but for his successors.

CONGRESSIONAL OPPOSITION AT ONE POINT Maverick of Texas interrupted: "Mr. President, I'm a good democrat and I'm a supporter of yours, but I insist this bill does not infringe on your prerogatives."

Nevertheless, the President replied, he wanted those discretionary powers.

"Well," fired back Maverick, "you are not going to get them. The senate has gone on record against it and a majority in the house is opposed. We'll never give them to you."

The President replied with emphasis that his ideals and aims were identical with those of congress—namely, keeping the country out of war—that he intended to avoid war at any and every cost.

You may think you can keep us out of war," replied Sisson of New York, "but you can't. You may recall that Woodrow Wilson, whom we both loved and served, was re-elected on a pledge to keep us out of war. But he didn't. He was misled by his state department and his advisers."

The President wanted to know by whom Wilson was misled. "By Colonel House," said Sisson, and the President disputed this. After further discussion, Sisson, who headed the delegation, closed with this statement:

RESPONSIBLE "IF WE fail to pass this legislation, Mr. President, and if the United States drifts into an international jam before the next session—as it well may do—then the people of this country will know that the responsibility rests on the shoulders of one man."

"And," concluded Sisson, "it will cause the defeat of the democratic party."

NOTE—Next day Roosevelt sent word to Capitol Hill that he agreed to the Pittman neutrality act with the very important reservation that it extend only until February 29, 1936. By that date there probably will be war in Europe.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Political Winds and What They Show

A year before the presidential campaign is due delicate ears are attuned to the four points of the compass to detect which way the political winds are blowing. Tiny puffs are magnified to gale proportions. The recent Rhode Island congressional election is loudly proclaimed as the beginning of a drift toward blowing the fodder away from the suffruted donkey and returning it to the starving elephant. Democrats pooh-pooh the "incident," saying that Rhode Island is normally a republican state anyhow. They point out evidences to show that the Roosevelt tide is still running strong and the New Deal appeals with all its usual glamor.

A Richmond, Va., paper has completed a state-wide straw vote on this one question: "I (favor) (do not favor) the re-election of President Roosevelt." Straw votes, one of America's chief indoor sports, are merely straw votes and may indicate something or nothing. Particularly so when they are merely a yes or no proposition. Straw ballots may be "planted" to confirm or reject certain predetermined notions. Replies may come largely from those willing to confirm some position while the contrary-minded may refrain from expression. In the Virginia poll more than 13,000 persons in all portions of the state expressed their wish on the retention or the rejection of the President in the next election. Eighty-five per cent

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

Don Wilkie appeared in Santa Ana yesterday. Came all the way from Laguna to tell a service club about the Ethiopians. A man who has been afflicted with the secret service department of the federal government, and politics, ought to know where to look for the senegambians. Don located a number of them when he ran for sheriff of Orange county. Then the other side had to whitewash 'em all over again. But before the election was finished he let everybody know that he knew a lot about political color. It was Orange county's most exciting sheriffly contest.

That fellow who wanted to get cool and left Santa Ana to spend the day in Los Angeles, will be found in ward 23, Norwalk.

Friend who is liberally supplied with obesity tells me that he is having one heck of a time trying to persuade a few skin microbes that his anatomy is not a summer resort. His excessive corpulence affords a most attractive lodging place. Occasional waves of flesh furnish a nice folding bed for germ chasers. And how they bore in! There is some uncanny method of communication. About the time he thinks the visitors should be empty fed, and that he is rid of the pests, another flock arrives. It's been a tough summer trying to dodge 'em.

When a thin guy slips up behind Patrolman Barnhill and says "stick 'em up," he turns nonchalantly around, takes one look, remarks: "Huh, it's you, is it?" Some policemen get scared, others just indifference, a few of them hard boiled. Take my advice. Pick your man.

Representative for the United States chamber of commerce called. Wanted to know how I liked "Nations Business." Told him I didn't know there was any. There is more than one way to get rid of a salesman.

When you ask a Santa Ana merchant "how's business," very often he will answer by asking you a question. He wants to know the price of oranges. If you think this industry does not have an important place in our commercial life, well, you haven't seen the orange groves. By the way, prices are improving.

Friend of mine out playing contract bridge wants to know if he can't get a deck with all face cards. Better try a pinocchio pack.

Most of my friends are home from the Ham Cotton barbecue, and with a variety of opinions as to whose ox was gored. Political writer for the Los Angeles Times says that McAdoo and Cotton and Schmitt will continue to distribute the patronage, and a Santa Ana politician offered to bet me they wouldn't. Neither of us had any money, so we bet. And that don't settle a thing.

Friend interested in my welfare fraternizes long enough to tell me to look out for "hot checks," that a slicker was in town Monday getting good money for bad paper. Later on his report was verified by another friend who had his fingers badgered. Doggone these crooks. They are the fellows who take the joy out of business.

Having a nice talk with Ernie Sawyer until a fem came along. Then Bob Mize submitted a report on the democratic barbecue. Ray Lambert gave a political forecast—no liability. Lady friend stopped me long enough to compliment The Journal about stimulating interest in city parks. No weather criticism.

Siren sounds and a wag says policeman going home for lunch. Not being a guest I'm opposed to this sort of strategy.

Harold Brown and fifteen others are in San Diego today tuna fishing. From private sources it is learned that Harold is not a good sailor, but he never turns down a fishing trip. Otto Haan is in another part of the state, and he also is as good a fisherman as Brown. Late report from Haan is that he fished all day in the rain and caught cold.

Every time I notice my reporter-neighbor selecting "Twenty-five Years Ago" items from old files it recalls to my mind those earlier days when Horace McPhee, George McPhee and Horace Fine, were the editorial and reportorial energy, and swung a "wicked" pen to establish their convictions.

Fred Humiston, bailiff, works for Sheriff McPhee, tells me his boss is home from Alaska. He should know, but I'm going over and look for myself. The sheriff's return isn't official until it gets my o.k. Then there are a lot of questions, pertinent and impertinent. Nope, I've got to see him personally. Bet the interview winds up with the usual applause for Santa Ana and Orange county. And who should know better than Logan? He came here early, and if he stays late it's all right with me.
